

GCI-USA MINISTRY DEVELOPMENT TEAM

The Ministry Development Team (MDT), led by Dr. Dan Rogers, is part of Church Administration and Development (CAD) of Grace Communion International (GCI) within the United States. MDT ministry developers offer the following services:

MinDev seminars and consulting

These services focus on helping congregations, pastors and ministry leaders grow in active and skillful participation with Jesus in his Great Commandment–Great Commission (GC2) ministry. MinDev seminars and short-term consulting services address spiritual formation, essential ministry knowledge and practical ministry skills. Ministry developers offering these services are Dan Rogers, Lorenzo Arroyo, Randy Bloom, Ted Johnston, Curtis May and Ken Williams.

Church Multiplication Ministries (CMM)

This MDT component equips church planters, church planting assessors and church planting coaches for their work in starting and growing new Grace Communion International congregations within the United States. Randy Bloom is CMM director. Lorenzo Arroyo and Ken Williams are CMM team members.

Generations Ministries (GenMin)

This MDT component strengthens families and disciples individuals of all age groups through cross-generational, Christ-centered events and ministry resources. GenMin components include Camp & Event Ministry, Family Ministry, and Leadership Ministry. Ted Johnston is GenMin director.

Office of Reconciliation Ministries (ORM)

This MDT component offers seminars and consulting services to help mend broken relationships by removing walls and building bridges. Participants are led to find positive solutions to racism, sexism, interpersonal conflict and other relational issues that separate people. Curtis May is ORM director.
